

Advance your skills and grow your business

Register now for Building Skills at The Builders': Session three

The Builders' Association, in collaboration with eight of the heartland's top general contractors, is proud to host Building Skills at The Builders'. This series of five professional development sessions focuses on advancing the skills of minority, women and disadvantaged business enterprises in the construction industry through training, mentorship and networking.

Registration for the third session is now available at www.buildersassociation.com, but hurry because space is limited and the sessions are FREE for participants!

The third session will focus on the banker and contractor relationship; how your bank can help you grow your business; small-business term loans; performance and payment bonding; bonding capacity and what it means to your business; and how bonding agencies and your bank work together. Dinner will be provided. Information about subsequent sessions, which will take place the last Tuesday of each month in 2022, will be updated at www.buildersassociation.com.

Building Skills at The Builders' Session Three: Understanding Bonding and Finance

Presented by:

Sam Dwyer
McCownGordon Construction Risk Manager

Nick Hadley
Commerce Bank Vice President

Tuesday, Oct. 25, 2022
4 - 7 p.m.

Builders' Training Center
105 W. 12th Ave.
North Kansas City

For questions, please contact Eva McDorman at emcdorman@buildersassociation.com.

Photo from Session One: Effective Communication

SUPPORT FOR THE BUILDING SKILLS SERIES PROVIDED BY

